merrillville high school

this year . . .

This year, 1966, as in any other year moods were portrayed by students of Merrillville High School. These moods were created in a number of ways. They were created as a result of school environment, academics, and extra-curricular activities.

This year there was something different in the air, an invisible apprehension.

For the sophomores, it was new and stimulating. They discovered the difficulties and fun in making a homecoming float.

For the juniors, that though high school was "old stuff," the '66 prom proved to be "hard work."

To the seniors, it's the expectation of things to come; they've already seen the homecomings and proms. They now look forward to the future and remember with pride and sorrow the events and happenings that took place at MHS.

1966 Homecoming brought cheers and tears and at the end of the season our team held the Southern Division Championship. A junior play and basketball season came along, Christmas and New Year's Eve. Choir and band performed for their annual Christmas Concert, and Thespians presented a "Night of One Acts." The seniors staged a courtroom drama and the sophomores a comedy in the spring. Wrestling, track, and baseball were played and many sad seniors walked to "Pomp and Circumstance."

Mr. Dean Richardson lectures to a sophomore English class.

Literary words

literary minds

Infinitives, gerunds, and participles add to the problems of the English students.

Grammar is a main part of the language we all speak and which must be mastered. Much of the time spent in English classes is concerned entirely with the grammatical construction of our language.

Literature is essential in gaining a well-rounded education. The great writers of literature and their works are delved into by the students. In addition, students are assigned books to analyze. This enables students to choose a book from their own particular preference. Twentieth Century, American, and English literature are the types of literature studied by sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Getting up before a large audience to speak can be a frightening experience to the amateur speaker.

Speech classes attempt to remedy this situation by allowing the students to speak before the class. This helps them to gain self-assurance and practice.

The students are required to give a variety of presentations in their orations. Some of these are persuasion, stimulation, award and introduction speeches.

The debate team proved to be a successful endeavor during its first year.

Mr. Richardson, adviser of the staffs, lectures in class.

Millie Djukic, business manager, also works on headlines of newspaper.

A familiar comment heard about the journalism students is "Those kids are always out of classes!" The reason for this is that they are busily gathering the latest news so that the students will be well-informed.

Journalism today is a very essential means of communication. This course teaches students to be flexible in their writing, have a flair for writing interestingly, and work co-operatively with people around them.

The journalism class is broken up into two staffs, Mirror and Merrillvue. Each works independently of the other, preparing its publication and meeting deadlines.

The main interest of the journalism staffs is you, the student.

Cultural and historical aspects of the world are presented to the students in history classes.

World history is offered to all students. This subject presents a general history of the countries of the world. It ranges from the first recorded incident to the present day. The significance of wars, people, and events are analyzed for their contributions.

U.S. history deals with the events and people of our country. Our cultural heritage is seen from how our forefathers contributed to the building of this nation.

The structure of our government and its economy is the required course of study for all seniors.

All of these were accomplished by students from the language de-

Spanish and German are the only two modern languages offered in the curriculum. Each is offered for four years during which conversation, grammar, history, and literature of the languages are learned.

Latin is the classical language available at this school. It enables students to better understand and interpret the English language.

home economics teaches skills of homemaking

Cooking, sewing, interior decoration, and child care are only some of the many homemaking skills that home economics students learn.

The students become aware that the nutritional value as well as appeal and appearance of foods is essential in planning a well-balanced meal.

They also learn to plan efficient and attractive arrangements for various rooms.

Clothing is also studied by the students. They compare various fabrics and colors and decide which would suit them best. After choosing a becoming pattern, they sew the material into an attractive outfit.

These skills will enable future homemakers to benefit their families and care for their households.

This year the art students decorated the windows using the theme "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

Art is offered for four years at Merrillville. Students learn the basic concepts of design and sketching faces and scenes.

In their third and fourth years, the students are able to choose individual projects. The majority of the students prefer to do oil paintings.

Each year many students enter the National Scholastic Art Awards. Many divisions are included such as oil painting, pencil sketches, water colors, and collages.

The art students contribute to the school by decorating during the Christmas season.

An opaque projector assists Mr. Yeoman in explaining geometry.

Mr. Hutchison's class listens as he illustrates concept of math.

Mr. Rainford grades tests of Algebra II students.

"New Math" can be effectively used to describe the math department of Merrillville.

The whole department is a filled set. Algebra I, geometry, Algebra II, and senior math can all be considered sub-sets.

This year two sub-sets were added to this rapidly growing set, calculus and probability and statistics.

The courses or sub-sets are further divided into units, each composing one semester. All of its sub-sets this year have gotten new textbooks.

The union of these sub-sets is our ever-growing Math Department, which is surely not an empty set.

physical and biological sciences are challenging

Mr. Vermillion uses model to explain principles to physics class.

Biology students do research on mice.

Interested chemistry students listen to lecture attentively.

Delving into the scientific world can be fun as well as interesting.

Biology students explore the marvels of life from the smallest micro-organism to the most advanced creature, man. Throughout the year they dissect crayfish, worms, fish, and frogs to the dismay of many girls.

Boiling, bubbling, frizzing, foaming, steaming, and exploding describe the many experiments performed by chemistry students. The experiments are done as a supplement to their book.

Watching a flame through a spectroscope is one of the many experiments done by the Physics classes. An experiment is done to help the students understand the principle by actually viewing the procedure and results.

Eyes on the page—not on the keys!

students prepare for future in business classes

Business classes offer students an insight as to what the business world will be like.

Typing I and II, Shorthand I and II, bookkeeping, office machines and office practice are the courses offered in this department.

In these classes the students learn to operate various machines, and some use this knowledge by assisting the teachers.

Many of the students often continue in the secretarial profession. Typing is beneficial for students who plan to go on to college also.

The business department is being expanded into the newly completed addition to the school.

This new addition will provide better facilities to the already growing department.

Initiative is an important part of the business classes since the students must work individually and at their own pace.

Mr. Bob Tolan uses a tape recorder to record book reports given by his students.

The audio-visual department is very beneficial to our school. The department is supervised by Mr. Velven Woolridge.

The students serve the teachers by distributing and operating the audio-visual materials.

There are a variety of materials available such as: overhead projectors, testmasters, tape recorders, movie projectors, and record players.

Jim Rudd again proves to be Merrillville's top runner.

The Merrillville cross country team had more than a respectable season under the able leadership of Coach Lloyd Ahlbrand. The boys reached and surpassed all expectations for the year.

The Pirates finished with a 12-4 won and lost record. In Conference competition the Pirates won 8 out of 11. They defeated such arch rivals as Crown Point, Portage, and Chesterton.

In the Sectionals the Pirates finished third, the highest a Pirate team has ever finished in such a meet. This earned them a chance to participate in the school's first regional meet. They finished a favorable eighth in this meet.

Senior, Jim Rudd, as expected was the outstanding runner on the team. He finished higher than anyone in all the Pirate meets with only a few exceptions. Jim's lowest running time for the two mile run was 10 min. 13 sec.

Other outstanding runners who will be back next year are Paul Erler, Duane Hill, Tom Troup, Bob Rudd, and John LaFevre.

Players ready themselves for game.

The fighting Merrillville Pirates again went through a successful football season. Before the season nobody would have guessed the Pirates would have fared so well.

The season started with many people doubting the Pirate's ability. The first game found us fighting for our lives and just managing a tie with our bitter rival, Crown Point. We kicked into gear with four straight victories at the expense of Griffith, Gary Edison, Lowell, and Highland. Two straight losses to Hammond Tech and Chesterton, respectively, started the previous doubts running in people's minds again. But after the victories over East Gary, Dyer, and by winning the Southern division title everyone was sure that Merrillville had a tough football team. In the conference Championship game the Pirates fought nobly but fell to Chesterton.

The Pirates accumulated several records during the 1965 campaign. The third game of the year found us winning our 100th victory in our school history. In the Highland game, the Pirates played their 18th straight game without a loss and their 15th conference game without a loss. The Pirates were the first team to appear in the conference playoff game for the second time.

The reserve football team is not included in a conference, as is the varsity; but the team record was 3 wins and 4 defeats.

The outstanding games included Highland and Gary Edison. Coach Kaiser stated, "Highland was a hard fought game with the Pirates coming out on top by a score of 13-6. Against Edison the entire team did an outstanding job, but was defeated 13-7.

Coach felt that the team performed well. Where their ability lacked, desire was high. He also said that each member of the team showed improvement with every game.

This year's Varsity Basketball team compiled a regular season record of 8 wins and 12 losses.

The seniors who did a commendable job were Gregg Popovich, Don Swanson, Ron Swanson, Pat O'Brien, and Arlen Pierce.

In conference play the Pirates finished fourth out of 12 teams. They compiled a 6-5 record in beating such arch-rivals as Griffith, Gary Wirt, and East Gary.

In conference competition, Vic Malis won a third and Tom Simpson, a freshman, finished fourth in their respective weight classes. Skip Langbehn had the best dual meet record this season.

The team finished 10th out of 12 teams in the conference.

The Merrillville High School Golf team of 1965 compiled a record of 16 wins and 9 losses. In conference competition the Pirates were 8—3 which earned them a third place finish.

The team finished tenth in the Dyer Invitational Tournament and in the Laporte Tournament they placed 23rd.

To top off a most successful season the Pirates placed fourth in the Sectional. They were led by George Dickinson who later shot a respectable 85 in the state Finals.

Other standouts who merit mention are: Tom Broadway, Jerry Croell, Vince Jachimczak, John Lienhart and Tom Troup.

'65 season time to rebuild

The 1965 baseball season was somewhat of a building season for the Merrillville Pirates.

To emphasize this fact the Pirates have 6 of the starting 8 players returning this season. The entire pitching staff is also back for action. Only two seniors were on the entire squad.

In statistics Al Schmidt led the team in nearly every offensive department. He had a .389 batting average, 5 home runs, 40 total bases, 21 hits, and 17 RBI'S.

Of those returning Bill Schmidt and Duane Hill led the team in hitting with .275 averages. Bill Schmidt led the team in walks with ten and Pat O'Brien led in triples with two.

The Pirates pitching was led by three sophomores: Bruce Hodges, Jim Washburn and Terry Dukeman.

homecoming— time of excitement confusion anticipation

In the float competition, Latin Club came in second place (top picture) and Pep Club placed first (bottom picture).

Despite the activities being delayed one day, due to rain, the 1965 homecoming festivities began in full swing on October 1.

Weeks of hard work came to an end as the many floats were paraded down Broadway. Later that same evening alumni watched the Pirates stage a victory over Lowell's Red Devils with a score of 12-0.

The highlight of the game's halftime was the crowning of Debbie Braatz as homecoming queen. Linda Rose, Peggy Jackson and Pam Tozier were her attendants. Andy Vasas was bestowed the honor of Mr. Football by the rest of the team. The other nominees were Don Swanson, Bill Schmidt, and Don Kleine.

Pep Club with its theme of "Stop Horsin' Start Cheerin'" won first place in the float division. Latin Club was second with "Pirate Time for Victory" and the sophomore class came in third with "Wipe Out."

"Discotheque '65" made a gymnasium look like a go-go house. The Tarantulas played many of the latest songs to the joy of many happy couples.

"Night of January 16th" by Ayn Rand was presented by the class of '66. Having already presented two comedies, the seniors chose a drama for their final play.

Mr. Joseph Morrow for the third time directed the play.

The story was a courtroom trial revolving around the death of Matthew Faulkner, a financial tycoon. His secretary, Karen Andre, was charged with his murder, but pleaded that it was a fake suicide.

The presentation was unusual in that actors who were witnesses were called from the audience by the clerk and the final verdict was determined by a jury selected from the audience.

Hula girls; the banker's hypochondriac daughter, Bon Bon; the bum who loved her, Boxie; and an irate French girl all were part of the comedy "Vacancy in Paradise" given by the junior class. Mr. Raymond Gran and Joseph Morrow were the director and the business manager of the play.

The story revolves around the rejuvenation of an old, desolate, lifeless motel. An imaginative guest takes it upon himself to revive the spot.

He advertizes the wonderland of nature as being a very romantic spot where eligible girls could meet equally eligible fellas. Within days the place is swarming with women! Finally with all the problems of men, rent, and the banker's daughter all resolved the brilliant guest and the proprietor's daughter live happily ever after together.

Their hearts were young and gay when the sophomores presented the comedy "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" by Jean Kerr. Jean Kerr is also noted for "Mary, Mary" and "Please Don't Eat the Daisies".

The play was a comedy in three acts staged in the "Roaring 20's." Two acts were set on an ocean liner and the third in a hotel in Paris.

With one production over, the class of 1968 prepares to present the first play of 1967 next fall.

With all the usual nervousness and excitement the Thespians once again presented a "Night of One Acts".

The members chose three exciting one-act plays. They were "How to Propose," "Trifles," and "The Lighthouse Keeper's Daughter."

For many of the members it was their first performance as a thespian. But the senior members had a different outlook before going on stage. Their performances must be especially good because this was their final performance as a thespian member.

Despite all of the pre-performance jitters and on-stage mistakes the Thespians presented a successful show.

misty— an underwater wonderland

Couples dance to theme music "Misty."

Band sets the mood.

Misty was the title of the '65 Junior-Senior Prom. It was a night of wonder and awe. The couples entered the underwater wonderland through a hallway decorated as an underwater cave. As they danced beneath a ceiling of blue they were entranced by the music of Pat DeMure.

All seas have many quaint and interesting creatures to mystify one's imagination. Gaily decorated fish swam through the misty water. Mermaids and fish nets decorated the sea walls. An old treasure chest, perhaps from an old Pirate sailing vessel, stood in front of an underwater castle.

As Queen Vita Sallas and King Donnie Swanson were crowned, their throne was a giant sea shell presided over by two impressive seahorses. When the King and Queen led the Grand March they passed a dangerous coral reef used as a bandstand. For refreshment and a change of mood a Tahitian grass hut was built on the balcony so the couples could sit and gaze into the "water."

Bob plans to attend Rose Polytechnological Institute next year to study electrical engineering. He is a member of Math Club, Pep club, Latin club, vice president of the National Honor Society and president of the band.

Outside of school Bob has twice been president of his church youth group. An amateur radio operator, Bob listens to broadcasts from all over the United States and Cuba.

Of all the main courses he has taken, chemistry ranks as his favorite and Mr. Hutchison and Mr. Morrow are his favorite teachers.

The DAR is a citizenship award. The winners of this award are chosen by the history and government teachers of each high school.

DAR, which stands for the Daughters of the American Revolution, gives an exam to each receiver, and in April a banquet is given in their honor.

Carla Nelson, this year's recipient is active in FTA and speech clubs. She plans to attend I.U. next year, majoring in English and history in order to become a secondary teacher.

Winner of the DAR award, Carla Nelson

Optimist award winners, Judy Hadsall and Dennis Teige

Judy Hadsall and Dennis Teige were awarded the Optimist Club Award for their leadership, citizenship and scholarship. This award is given to the outstanding boy and girl in our area.

Judy, after spending part of last summer in San Luis Potosi in Mexico, plans to major in Spanish. She has been very active in debate and public speaking. Other interests include: National Forensic League, Honor Society and Spanish club.

Dennis, who is also interested in debate, is a member of NFL. He has earned 75 NFL points, which means that he is in the degree of honor division. He belongs to the FTA, Thespians, and German clubs. Dennis plans to enter Law at Valpo. U. in the fall of '66.

honor students set goals

Report cards, term papers, and daily lessons are items in which all Honor Society members must be doubly concerned with.

Each member must maintain a 3.25 grade average, and must obtain five affirmative votes from the teachers. Members are chosen on scholarship, leadership, and outstanding character. They must show a deep responsibility to serve the school and others.

The society has been busy this year with varied projects. They entered a car in the Homecoming Parade, helped with the orientation day, and continued its tutoring service. NHS also had a fund-raising project to help Channel 11, an educational station.

quill and scroll probes journalistic imagination

Journalistic minds revolve and whirl as students try to meet the requirements of Quill and Scroll, honorary society for journalists. Scroll members must prove to the satisfaction of their adviser that they merit the award through high scholarship, journalistic achievement, and service.

Under the rules of the constitution, members must be chosen from students enrolled in a journalism class. They must be a junior or senior, in the upper third of their class, be recommended by their adviser, and be approved by the executive secretary of the society.

When initiation fees are paid, a member then receives an official gold pin and a one year subscription to Quill and Scroll magazine.

thespians promote dramatic advancement

Lights are lowered and voices heard on a dimly lighted stage.

Thespians is a club devoted in furthering the interest in the dramatic arts among high school students.

Demand as it is leads to requests for one-act plays given for special events throughout the community.

This year the club gave its annual night of one-act plays which turned out successfully.

To become a member a person must obtain a total of ten points by acting in plays or assisting in their production.

Highlighting this year's activities was the annual banquet. Here, awards are handed out for outstanding performances of acting, and technical work in all three class plays. There was a trip to Chicago to see a stage play.

This year the German Club has participated in many new and different activities.

They have had many German films and speakers from the German Embassy throughout the year. Because of this they have promoted a strong interest in the German customs and language.

Something new this year was the formation of a German band complete with authentic German dress and music. The band performed at meetings. The annual Christmas program presented in German was held in the school cafeteria.

German Club also donated Christmas trees to the Lake County Convalescent Home to help spread cheer.

This was particularly evident this year because of the many speech contests entered. The debate team in its first year turned out to be a very worthwhile endeavor.

To become a member, a person must have taken one year of speech or be enrolled in a speech class. A student must maintain a B average in speech and be recommended by Mr. Morrow and voted on by members of the club.

Strength, courage, and patience must be what members of Future Nurses of America should possess.

The members work together to explore the health service careers and to acquaint themselves with the qualifications for entering each one.

To help explore the different types of careers many trips were taken throughout the year. Visits to Lobunde Sabo, Trade Winds, and a general hospital were only a few of the excursions.

Guest speakers from the various health service branches were available at meetings throughout the year for consultation and information.

main goal: future business career

Future Secretaries of America is in its first year of existence.

FSA is a club devoted to acquaint high school girls with the business world. It tries to stimulate and develop a better understanding of the potentials of a secretarial career. It does this by having guest speakers at each meeting to help the girls with questions and problems.

FSA is sponsored by Duneland Chapter of National Secretaries Association.

The main activity of the year was a candlelight installation ceremony where members and officers were initiated. Also a spring trip was taken to an office where the business world was observed.

f.t.a. interests students in teaching

Teaching techniques, apples and children are all articles which are in the minds of members of Future Teachers of America. FTA aids those students who want to become teachers to plan their futures.

This year FTA gave a Christmas party for the children of the special classes at Iddings. Throughout the year members are called upon to substitute for teachers in the school system.

In the spring Observation Day gives the members an opportunity to better their knowledge of their desired field of education.

This year because of its growing membership FTA has co-sponsors, Mrs. Wrona and Mrs. Spurr.

GAA helps to promote physical fitness and good sportsmanship among girls. This is made possible by conducting a different intramural sport each six weeks.

Many different activities were conducted this year. A bike hike, foot hike, swimming party, and a trip to a Black Hawk Ice Hockey game were only a few.

GAA also gave toys and canned goods to a needy family during Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The year was wrapped up by the annual banquet where pins, letters, and trophies were awarded.

choral department sings out songs of many moods

Moods of many manors were made by the choral department throughout the year. Concert Choir, Senior Choir, Vocalteens, Velveteens, and Merrillettes all work together to put on enjoyable concerts for the school and community.

The first program of the year was the Christmas Concert. Here the gay and serious moods of Christmas were expressed.

In March, Merrillville journeyed to Highland High School for the Choral Festival. Hundreds from six schools combined their voices to be directed by a guest conductor.

The final concert of the year was the Spring Concert. Here the gay, sweet mood of spring was created by songs and dress of the choral department.

seniors reminisce

Dear Fellow Members of the Class of '66,

As our final days of high school draw to a close, we reminisce thinking about the past three years which led to our graduation.

Remember Homecoming and all the work and fun it was to build our float, "Stomp 'em"? Even though we didn't place, we were proud of it.

One of our biggest successes was the sophomore play, "Cheaper by the Dozen."

As juniors, we weren't about to lose the taste of success. Our float that year, "Key to Success," won an honorable mention.

Finally our class rings arrived!

Soon rehearsal for another play began, "See How They Run."

Finally we experienced "our own prom." "Misty" is well remembered. This brought to a close our junior year.

Then we were in our final year. It was one of the most awaited years of our high school days.

With the experience of two years behind us, we built our best float, "Off With Their Heads." Then our long awaited senior pictures were delivered. We exchanged these generously with each other.

Once again, play rehearsal started. This year's play was "Night of January 16th."

With the arrival of our senior announcements, the finality of our high school life was realized.

Soon we will be seated in the gymnasium listening to two of our outstanding seniors, Bob Boyd, valedictorian, and Marilyn Mundell, salutatorian, addressing us for the last time as one large group. This will be our last day as members of Merrillville High School. We will go away sad, but well rewarded with our accomplishments in high school.

Many Seniors helped in decorating the Senior Hall during Spirit Week. One of the most outstanding features of the Hall was the character holding a sign which read "Seniors." Another outstanding feature was the sign over the entrance to the Hall, it read "Those Who Enter Are Privileged."

The class of 1967 has now completed its first year with the title of upperclassmen. Their new ice blue class rings, received early in September, show this.

The juniors worked extremely hard on their first project of the year, the homecoming parade float. They chose "Junior Stars See Victory" as their theme.

sophomores win spirit week

The class of '68 had a very successful sophomore year. It all started with their Homecoming float, "Wipe Out." It received the award of 3rd place.

It further proved its enthusiasm by winning Spirit Week, a new innovation in class competition. The sophomores were under the direction of Mr. Bob Tolan. They are now the proud owners of the MHS Spirit Stick.

In the spring, the class presented its first high school play. This production gave them experience which will be valuable for their next two class plays.

At the close of the year, the class Executive Board choose class rings.
